Don't worry about Togo. He'll be there all right when his services are required.

Chicago seems jealous of the notoriety that is being given to Manchuria as a battleground.

It's mighty easy for Andrew Carnegie to talk of poverty. He has about $150,000,000 left.

King Edward has ordered an American typewriter. Wonder what Queen Alexandra will have to say about the matter?

It is said that Russell Sage is slowly dying. And just think what an awful expense the funeral will be when he finally expires!

If that "Bed Mattress" was only pneumatic it could be filled with gas and hoisted over the city with a tag attached labeled "Shine Boom."

The Birmingham Ledger says "President Roosevelt has his party guessing." Correct. And, incidentally, he has everybody else guessing as well.

The big meeting at armory hall was the talk of the town yesterday, and Senator Mallory's powerful speech for White supremacy was endorsed on all sides.

Yesterday's edition of the Daily News was one of the most remarkable which it has issued during the campaign. It contained only one anonymous communication and even that looked as though it felt ashamed of itself.

The News's editorial comment on the armory hall meeting of the White Democrats was in keeping with its usual policy during the campaign. This is all that is necessary to be said in order for the public to understand just what that editorial amounted to.

Dr. T. K. Hunt, who had charge of the Igorrote village at the St. Louis World's Fair, has arrived in Portland with 51 of the Bontoo Igorrotes, direct from the wilds of the Philippines. These dog-eaters will build a village and be a feature of the Lewis and Clark Exposition. Dr. Hunt says that more than 300 Igorrotes begged to accompany him back to the United States.

A few days ago our amiable evening contemporary challenged The Journal to find a lawyer in the city of Pensacola who would say that the recent Primary was legal, and in accordance with the Primary law. The Journal is not looking for lawyers—it has been satisfied from the beginning as to the legality of the Primary—but if it will accommodate the News, we are pleased to refer it to Senator S. R. Mallory, whose speech regarding the legality of the Primary was published in yesterday morning's paper. Senator Mallory is somewhat of a lawyer himself. Now if the News will produce any other lawyer in the city—outside of R. Pope Reese—who will say that the Primary was not legal, The Journal will be pleased to publish that fact.

THE WALTON COUNTY FAIR AT DEFUNK.

The DeFunk Breeze has the following to say regarding the Walton County Fair which will be held at that place during the coming fall:

The experience of our people in the fairs we have held the past five years have shown what may be done in that line, but it is the intention to make the one next Fall much more than a local one, in fact to make it a representative exposition of the resources of this whole section, and not barring for that matter any one in the state or south Alabama who has something he thinks worth showing. Above all things we want to impress it upon our friends everywhere that this is in no sense a town affair. It is essentially a farmers' exhibit, and they are the ones who should be most interested in its success. They should be exhibitors not alone for the sake of taking prizes, but for the good they may do their neighbors by the example they set. They should urge participation by their neighbors for the good those neighbors will get out of it.

They should not only do this, but they should be stockholders in it, in fact it should belong to them, and we hope to see them liberal subscribers to the stock list.

As the Breeze says, the farmers of the state are the ones that will derive the greatest benefit from such an exposition, and they should actively participate in it to the end that it be made an unqualified success. Nothing is more conducive to the advancement of any section than a comprehensive exhibit of its agricultural products, and in no way can this be better accomplished than by showing those products at a fair, such as is annually held at DeFunk.

The Journal hopes that every farmer in West Florida will take an active interest in the fair and do all in his power to make it a success.

SUPREME ASSEMBLY UNIFORM RANK, K. OF P.

By Associated Press.
Indianapolis Ind., May 25.—The supreme assembly of the Uniform Rank, K. of P. met to-day. Committees on finance and rules and regulations began work. A committee representing the commercial interests of New Orleans will appear before the assembly to invite the uniform rank to hold its supreme encampment in that city next year when the supreme lodge of the order meets there.

SIDE LIGHTS FROM THE TAMPA TRIBUNE.

Herr Hoch is to meet the fate of the other Bluebeard.

The Russian supply of admirals seems to be inexhaustible.

A man never tells on a friend and a woman never falls to.

If a woman likes anybody's hat it is a sign she hates her own.

Every one seems to be worried over that Russian fleet, except Togo.

Chicago always has on hand the leading specimen of a strike.

A man could almost stop loving a real angel if he thought she might have corns.

Every column of want ads. contains "buried treasure"—for someone; for YOU, probably.

When you get into a snarl don't worry how you did it, but get out as quickly as possible.

If President Roosevelt keeps on doing the right thing he will win the reputation of being a bad republican.

The truts are no doubt sorry that, not contented with holding up the people, they attempted to hold up the government.

Think of the awful tragedy that would occur if Rojestvensky were in the Atlantic when those yachts come racing along.

They say there is no punishment in the world so severe as wheelbarrow pushing. And that is a kind they have in the land of the Czar.

The bad man from Texas who tried the gun stunt on a New York cop knows what is meant by speaking softly and carrying a big stick.

The cry of Rojestvensky is, "Help me, Nicholas, or I sink!" Possibly the Russian admiral may stay in southern waters until his health improves.

Yes, there is no use in postponing the question. Let's have the new counties disposed of as soon as possible this season. Why should it be postponed?

There is so little to redeem the dry weeds and errors that make up so much of life that anything akin to love or reverence becomes, as it were, a Sabbath to the soul.

If every ad. gives a clue to the personality of the advertiser, you can "review" a strange and interesting procession of people by simply reading to-day's wants.

The faithful, honest working man should be protected and the men who would hinder him should be made to suffer. The real sufferers in any strike are the wives and children of the strikers. This fact and that nothing is ever gained by strikes seems hard for the working people to understand.

THE LEGISLATURE AND LEGISLATORS.

Amendment to Registration Law.

A measure to amend the present registration law and providing a uniform ballot is now being considered by Florida's solons. The present ballot is a nuisance, and the voters will welcome a law that will simplify it. The voters are tired of having to lug a quire of newspaper around under their arms on election day.—Apalachicola Times.

Immigrants Needed.

What this state most wants and needs is immigrants and quite a few of them and any steps the legislature can take to secure them will, or should be, appreciated by all present residents in the state. The land is here on which anyone can make a living; the climate is here that will prolong life even when far gone with disease; transportation is here for everybody's convenience; churches, schools, fraternal orders and secret societies; towns are here to live in if it is too lonesome in the country; the country is here and lots of it, if it gets too crowded in the towns; good water can be had anywhere and water can be had for the buying—all inducements are here—now call in the settlers.—Palm Beach News.

Whisky Legislation.

The Florida Legislature is still devising ways and means to amend the whisky law. We are in favor of enacting any law that will have a tendency to promote the cause of temperance, but are not in favor of compromising with the devil in this vital question, and passing a law that will allow whisky to become more of an article of commerce. The people have a just right to express their wishes at the ballot box as to whether or not whisky should be sold. Polk county has prospered without having a saloon in her bounds and we are perfectly willing to continue under the same law, only that blind tigers may become less successful.—Lakeland Sun.

CINCINNATI BROKERS MADE AN ASSIGNMENT.

By Associated Press.
Cincinnati, May 25.—Holzman & Co., bankers and brokers in the Union Trust building and members of the New York exchange, assigned to-day to Lipman Levy, Alfred Holzman, a member of the firm says their assets and liabilities are about equal—$100,000. He attributes their embarrassment to the rumors concerning the loss of $55,000 from the reserve of the German National bank and to the recent run on the Union Trust company bank and the withdrawal of a former partner.

THE MOTOR ENGINE A GODSEND TO FISHERMEN.

H. P. Burchell, in Outing.

It is interesting to note, that the use of motors for boats preceded the so-called motor boat of to-day. Owners of cat boats for pleasure sailing and the small fishermen that ply their uncertain trade off the New England coast, were quick to appreciate the advantage possessed by a motor in the boat. To the fisherman, to whom several hours of monotonous rising, and falling on a becalmed sea meant loss of market or worthless fish when he did reach port, the small motor, from 1½ to 4 horse power, just powerful enough to carry his craft along from three to five miles an hour, was a veritable godsend. It emancipated him from a complete dependence on the winds; he became master of the elements and could calculate with some definiteness the times of his return to land.

Within the last two or three years, thousands of small motors have been put in the deep-cabined cat boats that crowd the New England harbors and shore resorts during the summer. Heavy row boats, old-fashioned steam and naphtha launches, have likewise been converted into motor boats, and the familiar chug, chug of the hard-working little engine is heard in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, among the Tabular islands, in the Gulf of Mexico, on the Great Lakes, throughout the long, winding course of the Mississippi, in the harbor of Havana and even in South Africa. On the Dutch canals, the motor barge is a common sight.

The small motor, therefore, as an auxiliary power, has demonstrated its utility beyond question. No mechanical device has ever been invented combining both reasonableness in price with ease of management in so satisfactory a manner as the motor engine. No fire is needed to get up steam. Two or three twists of the wheel and the motor gets to work and so long as its supply of gasoline holds out, it requires scarcely any attention until the destination is reached. Small motors suitable for boats from 20 to 40 feet in length sell from $75 to $200. Gasoline is inexpensive and one does not have to bother about the pressure of steam or the quantity of water in the boiler. If not already the case, it will in a short time be a rarity to find a small sailing boat outside of the back-about or one design yachting class that is not equipped with a gasoline motor.

SAID OF PENSACOLA AND PENSACOLIANS.

Experimental Roads.

The experimental road building in Pensacola progresses favorably, just as it has in Jacksonville. This road work is very expensive, and has caused some complaint on that account.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

Boycott of Street Cars.

The negroes of Pensacola have boycotted the street railways there on account of the "Jim Crow" law, dividing the white and colored passengers.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

Judge Beggs Commended.

The law abiding people of Pensacola and the state at large should pass a unanimous vote of thanks to Judge Beggs for the stand he has taken in reference to the gamblers of that city. The size of the fines he is imposing on that fraternity could only be improved upon by making the penitentiary sentences positive instead of alternative.—DeFunk Breeze.

Want Votes to Count.

Pensacola negro Republicans formally notify the Republican candidate for Mayor that they will not support him. Want their votes to "count."—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Having Fun After Death.

A humorist in Japan who joked all his life told his friends when he was dying that his body was not to be washed after death, but was to be taken at once to the family temple to be cremated. When he died his instructions were followed. As soon as it was set on fire the mourners were astonished by several loud explosions. At first they were inclined to take to their heels, but curiosity got the better of fear, and careful inspection showed that the humorist had stowed away a large number of firecrackers about his person before his death.

The Bulldog's Nose.

Froude told Dr. Boyd an interesting little anecdote of an Oxford undergraduate who was asked in an examination in Paley's "Evidence" if he could mention a solitary instance of the divine goodness which he had discovered for himself. "Yes," he replied, "the conformation of the nose of the bulldog. Its nose is so retracted that it can hang on to the bull and yet breathe freely. But for this it would soon have to let go."

The Ideal.

It is in making endless additions to self, in the endless expansion of its powers, in the endless growth in wisdom and beauty, that the spirit of the human race finds its ideal. To reach this ideal culture is an indispensable aid, and that is the true value of culture.

Appearances Deceptive.

Mr. Headstall—That horse you bought yesterday is a vicious looking animal. Is he kind? Mr. Cropper—Kind? I should think so. Why, when he came out of the stable he stood upon his hind legs and tried to embrace me.—Puck.

Work and Worry.

Weary Walker—Dis paper says dat worry kills more fellers dan work. Tired Tatters—I reckon dat's right, but dey ain't nothin' wat worries me like work.—Atlanta Constitution.
